Recycling Education Event Set for October 11

Farmington, Minn., Sep. 1, 2023 – Recycling can be confusing, even for the most environmentally-conscious. To help Farmington residents learn more about recycling, the city is offering a free “crash course” to residents that provides the low-down on where our recycling goes, why it seems like there’s so many rules, and why it’s worth the work. Residents will also learn tips and tricks to recycle right and have questions answered by an industry professional.

“I love answering recycling questions and helping residents learn more about why we can and can’t recycle certain things,” says Violet Penman, Solid Waste & Recycling Coordinator, who is leading the event. “I think knowing the how and why our recycling system works helps people better understand what to put in their bin, which is the ultimate goal”.

The event will take place on October 11 from 7-8 p.m. at the Rambling River Center, 325 Oak Street. There is no cost associated and participants do not need to pre-register.
